ROBERT ALIAGA JOINS SIMCOM AS TRAINING CENTER MANAGER

ORLANDO, FL, January 2017 – SIMCOM Training Aviation announces that Robert Aliaga has joined the company as Training Center Manager for SIMCOM's Orlando Parksouth Training Center. In this capacity, Robert will oversee and direct all center activities for the purpose of providing cost-effective training that consistently produces well trained and satisfied customers.

Robert began his flying career in 1989, and brings years of aviation and management experience to SIMCOM. Robert has previously served in positions of Chief Pilot and Director of Training for a FAR 121 Air Carrier and most recently as an Instructor, Examiner and Program Manager for FlightSafety International. Robert holds an ATP, CFI (ME and SE), type ratings in CE-750, CE-680, CE-525S, CE-510S, EMB-120 and BE-1900 as well as an A&P Mechanic license.

"We are happy to have Robert join the SIMCOM Team. His vast experience in aviation training and proven leadership skills make him the ideal choice to lead SIMCOM's Orlando 142 business," said Mike King, Chief Operating Officer. He added, "We look forward to having Robert on our team as we continue to grow and improve SIMCOM."

About SimCom Training Centers
